Frederick Faber, the son of an English clergyman, was raised in Calvinist tradition. He was educated at Oxford and was an Anglican priest for a few years. Faith of Our Fathers was written by Faber in memory of Roman Catholics who lost their lives in the sixteenth century when Henry VIII broke with Rome and established the Church of England.

For $5,000 we get two build days for Trinity volunteers; we get more days if we raise more. Building will start with four consecutive days in August and then continue on twelve Saturdays. Get your hammers and brushes ready! We need your checkbooks, too. To contribute, make a check payable to Trinity Presbyterian Church and write Habitat on the memo line. Talk to Pat Gibbons for more info.
